

Functional Block Diagram - Computers that communicate in English

(spontaneous machine English language processing)

Figure 1

1 of N transducers that change electrical signals into Ascii English Language sentences.

An English Language sentence can give instructions on how to process the next sentence. 1 of N internal processors do analysis, parsing, and logic management of incoming sentences.

1 of N English Language sentence memories switchable by an English Language sentence.

